

Chicago

LOCAL TIPS

Check out a gallery for street art

Chicago Truborn is an international art gallery that specializes in graffiti and street art in West Town. The entire facade of the gallery's building is a bright and bold mural from 2017 of animals by Dutch artist Eelco van den Berg. For each exhibition, the gallery asks the show's participating artists to paint the windows of the space. Chicago Truborn also works with locals in the neighborhood to find walls for their artists to paint. Murals have popped up all around West Town thanks to the efforts of the Chicago Truborn team. In other "Local tips," I recommend a few of the coolest spots to find examples.

SELF-GUIDED LESS THAN AN HOUR

Answers from the local expert

How much does it cost?

It's free.

Do you have any tips?

They have show openings a couple times a month

Is there an official website?

Yes, you can visit chicagotruborn.com

Location

About the local expert

Local recommendation from

Elisa Shoenberger

Elisa Shoenberger is a Chicago writer. She has been published by the Boston Globe, Curbed, Book Riot, and others. She is the co-editor and co-founder of The Antelope. You can check out her website at <https://bowlerhatfox.squarespace.com/> or her blog at <https://notwithoutmybowlerhat.wordpress.com/>.

Related interests

State of the arts

Similar local tips

See Polish art
from the 1939...

Hunt for a great
mural in a...

Don't miss the Thorne...

Research
Chicago histor...

Touring Bird ▲

